

GIVE ME YOUR WATCH/NECKLACE!

Manner:

Like a stereotype sales person. It's the best deal they'll get – not to miss out.

WHAT DID YOU HAVE FOR BREAKFAST?

Manner:

Put down, patronising. You don't really want to know, but if they don't tell you such a simple thing they aren't worth knowing.

WALK BACKWARDS!

Manner:

Aggressive, bullying; if they don't do this, something will happen to them.

CRAWL AROUND THE FLOOR!

Manner:

Threaten to expose them to everyone that they wouldn't play the game.

WHAT'S YOUR FAVOURITE FILM/TV PROGRAMME?

Manner:

As if you will then tell them something in exchange. You can get to know them better,

KISS MY FEET!

Manner:

Very friendly as if it would be a sign of how much they like you.

CLOSE YOUR EYES AND FALL BACK
INTO MY ARMS!

Manner: Trusting, reassuring. You wouldn't let them get hurt.

GIVE ME YOUR JUMPER/SWEATSHIRT!

Manner: Pushy and praising. Their jumper is so much better than yours, aren't they lucky!

LEND ME £5!

Manner: Lay on the guilt. Make them feel as if I they are really letting you down if they don't,

BARK LIKE A DOG!

Manner: Patronising – it's not as if you're asking them to do something difficult or dangerous

BALANCE A BOOK ON YOUR HEAD!

Manner: Gentle, reassuring. Of course you wouldn't ask them to do anything stupid. It will show how good they are at it.

TAKE YOUR SHOES OFF!

Manner: Off-hand, it's their loss if they don't want to join in. You don't care either way.

JUMP UP AND DOWN!

Manner: Put down, belittling, if they don't do this, they aren't worth knowing and you'll find someone who will.

RECITE A NURSERY RHYME!

Manner: Go on – be part of the crowd; everyone else will do it without making a fuss.

WHEN IS YOUR BIRTHDAY?

Manner: Act really interested, it is something you have to know and they will gain by giving you the information.

SING “JINGLE BELLS” BACKWARDS!

Manner: Sneering. They won't do it because they can't; if they could they'd prove it.
